

Dear Northwest Christian School Partner,

I think our Junior Bible teacher said it best. Recently, I overheard Northwest Christian School's Junior Bible teacher, Mr. Mark Young, talking with a group of students about the state of the culture and the need for our students to be equipped to address a world that seems to be spiralling out of control. Mr. Young said, "What our culture needs is young people who can speak the truths of God's word with compassion and clarity." Those two words, "compassion" and "clarity", have really stuck with me the last several weeks as I have watched what appears to be the rapid deterioration of the culture in which our students live. Those two words are why I am grateful for Northwest Christian School and its ability to train and send our students into a chaotic and confused culture. It is also the reason that I am grateful for you.

The fact that you are receiving this letter indicates that in some form you have supported NCS in the past. As a result of this partnership, in a demonstrable way, you are helping to equip our students to be the world-changers needed so desperately right now!

Your generosity has allowed Northwest Christian School to enjoy the following accolades:

- We are now the single largest private school in the state of Arizona.
- We have been picked by both the Phoenix Business Journal and Ranking Arizona magazine as the "top private school in the state" for eight consecutive years.
- We are one of only eleven schools in the world to receive "Exemplary" accreditation from the Association of Christian Schools International.
- This past year, we were picked by the Arizona Interscholastic Association as a "School of Excellence".
- For multiple years, our Fine Arts program has participated in honor ensembles within the Arizona Music Educators Association and has been awarded top honors by National Youth Arts.

As we approach the end of the tumultuous year of 2020, like you, I recognize our world needs NCS students like never before. As you can see, in a very real and practical way, your support has meant a significant number of worthy students being supported in attending one of the top private schools in the world--and being equipped with compassion and clarity to see that world changed to the glory of God!

Would you consider supporting the school once more this year? Your 2020 year-ending gift will be committed to a campus improvement program that will include up to twelve new classrooms to replace the aging modular buildings on our campus as well as a new, state-of-the-art technology center.

Thank you for your consideration and support!
